

JavaScript Assignment

I got to learn various things during making this assignment. I got to know about the if statements operators, data types, switches, arrays, string, loops and DOM. The layout, crafted using Bootstrap's responsive grid system, ensures the calculator is easy to use across devices. When a user types a number or selects an operator, the result field clears instantly. Creating a calculator that adapts seamlessly to different screens underscores the importance of responsive web development. Completing a project, no matter how small, boosts my confidence.
